ST. LOUIS ARTISTS' GUILD WEEKLY ART GROUPS

We kindly ask anyone attending a FREE group that is not a member of the St. Louis Artists' Guild to donate $6.00 per session. This enables us to continue to offer these wonderful art groups on a weekly basis.

Students 15 or older are encouraged to attend Tuesday and Thursday drawing group and painting group sessions.

The weekly drawing groups are similar to an open studio time. They are very casual. There is no formal instruction, but I'm sure you can get many ideas and suggestions from the coordinators and students. A model is provided so we charge $6 for non-members and $5 for members and students. Bring your own materials. We provide a few tables, easels, and benches while supplies last.

2nd Saturday Critiques

10:00 am, FREE for all

The Second Saturday is a group critique where artists bring something they are working on to get a 2nd opinion or suggestions. Bring something you are working on, something you might have given up on and join in a discussion on art.

Second Tuesday Illustrators

7:00 p.m., FREE for all

The Illustration Section meets every 2nd Tuesday in the Emerson gallery of the St Louis Artist's Guild.

We always welcome artists to come and enjoy the speakers and demonstrations. Mostly we have local artists - some of them our own section members, who give a talk about their current work and a little history about how they got to where they are. All of the talks are entertaining, and more than a little inspiring to those of us in the audience.
